

Colour Block Blankets

Hella Jongerius, 2016

vitra.

The Colour Block Blankets by Dutch designer Hella Jongerius are a perfect illustration of how the variation of hues used for warp and weft threads affects the colour scheme of a woven textile. Four contrasting colour blocks of greater or lesser intensity attractively interact to form a decorative overall pattern. The different two-tone combinations of coloured thread are visible on the edges of the blanket: in the hues of the fringe at both ends and in the thin stripes of colour woven in the visible selvedge along the sides.

Peruvian highland wool. This is produced by a hybrid breed of sheep – a cross between a Merino, whose wool is extremely soft, and a Corriedale, which is known for its sturdy fibres.

- Material: 100% Peruvian highland wool.

The Colour Block Blankets are made of

Colour Block Blankets
black-blue

2040 x 1300 mm

Colour Block Blankets
blue-bordeaux

2040 x 1300 mm

Colour Block Blankets
pink-beige

2040 x 1300 mm

