

WALTER KNOLL SLEEPING SYSTEM. Design: .

---

Sleeping in upholstered beds from Walter Knoll is like floating on a cloud. The sleeping system is based on the box-spring principle. Excellence in design and function. Box-spring beds denote particular snugness, supreme softness and excellent sleeping comfort. Their height makes it easier to get into bed, the mattress adjusts to suit the contours of the body, relieves pressure and supports the spine. The interaction of the breathable upholstered materials and the airspace of the base mattress allow the air to circulate in all directions all the time and thus absorb moisture. For healthy sleep.

Product description

Sleeping system

The recommended sleeping system from Walter Knoll is based on the box-spring principle and consists of:

- a slim, supporting base mattress
- a comfortable, soft top mattress and
- a topper (optional).

Base mattress

The upholstered base mattress consists of furnace-tempered, continuously coiled springs forming a stable and resilient basis for the sleeping system and support for the top mattress. The cover cannot be removed.

Top mattress

The top mattress is tufted and is made of several layers of material (see illustration), which are put together without compression or chemical adhesives. The inner springs are hand-made with heat-tempered metal. This creates a mattress with outstanding resilience, which quickly regains its shape.

The cover cannot be removed.
