

PLEKTRUM

The shape of a guitar plectrum has given this stackable stool its characteristic appearance and name. The turned-up back edge of the padded seat gives a feeling of support and in addition offers somewhere to hang one's bag or jacket. The seat is covered in fabric or leather and is also available cast in one piece in the black rubber-like material PUR. A seat that's particularly durable. In Scandinavia, bar stools are often used as seating for quick meetings in offices.
