

SUBWAY

The Subway is a magazine holder that reminds you of the classic advertisement pillars you see in cities and towns. The Subway's powerful design makes it an expressive ingredient in all kinds of public areas. The standalone cylindrical model lends itself to placement in the middle of the room where the magazines are accessible from all directions. Textile-covered rubber bands keep the magazines in place. The Subway Magazine holder is available in different heights as a floor standing model. Revolving base as optional extras.
